SOMETHING DIFFERENT COMING TO THE SUN

Dear Patrons: Considerable criticism has been directed against motion picture serials—that phase of "movies" most patronized by school children—because of the emphasis placed on fighting, gun play and torture.

For this reason I have booked a new departure in serials, "Winners of the West," produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing company. This serial strikes an entirely new note in serial production and completely eliminates the aforementioned objectionable features. "Winners of the West" is based on the heroic exploits of two of America's greatest and most picturesque pioneers, Captain John C. Fremont and Kit Carson.

Realizing the necessity for presenting films that shall appeal to children, interest without exciting them, and have a distinct educational value, the Universal company has undertaken this novel departure in screen production. I, too, feel that the presentation of distinctive national heroes in clean motion pictures will bring about a valuable sense of cooperation between the school and the screen. A child's disinclination to study will disappear, I believe, when he has his lessons served to him in the guise of entertainment. Incidentally, these pictures should prove an effective agency in the interest of Americanization.

I feel we shall accomplish great good in showing the school children of this community pictures depicting the lives of those who will ever serve as a shining example to the youth of our land. Do not you agree with me that we shall advance the cause of Americanism to a considerable degree by inculcating in the minds of our children a reverence and appreciation of those who helped to make our country the glorious land it is today?

Upon the success of this innovation rests my decision whether I shall broaden the scope of this new educational medium and show future pictures that will include the lives of virtually every picturesque and glorious hero who had so much to do in blazing the way for our present civilization.

Trusting to see you all at our premier presentation of "Winners of the West" at the Sun Theater December 9-10. I am,

Very sincerely yours,

HUMAN NATURE STORY

A feud had existed between the Browns and the Robinsons which was caused by the depredations of Brown's cat. The wives were especially active in this feud. One day Robinson received a conciliatory note as follows: "Mr. Brown sends his compliments to Mr. Robinson and begs to state that his old cat died last night." Robinson's reply was bitter: "Mr. Robinson is sorry to hear of Mr. Brown's trouble but he had not heard that Mrs. Brown was ill."—Clipped.
